I have lived in Komono since I was born.
It's in the countryside, but there is beautiful nature and wonderful sightseeing spots. For exmple, golf course, camp sites, horse riding hiking, rock climbing, temples, shrines and hot springs.

My favorite place is Asake camp site.
There is a big forest, clear sky and beautiful river there. You can BBQ and play in the water.
When you go there, please play in the river.
Surely you will enjoy everything.

The most famous place is Mt Gozaisho.
You can get the top of the Mountain on a ropeway and enjoy seeing scenery from the top.
I especially like the autumn landscape .
The colored leaves spread all around and are very fantastic.
Sometimes, you can see wild goats.
If you see them, you are very lucky.
The wild goats are so famous that they became Komono's mascot.

There are many accommodations and very good sightseeing spots at Yunoyama Hot Springs at the foot of Mt Gozaisho.
There is a legend in Yunoyama.
During the Edo Period, there was a temple called Sangakuji in Yunoyama.
Aoi and Sakichi went to the temple to die, because they were star-crossed lovers.
There they met very kind monks, and they forgot all of their negative thoughts. Later, they got married.
Now the area is called "Koimusubi no Machi" ("the town of finding love").
Many couples visit there and get married.
I want to meet a nice man and marry someday.
